Anti-bullying week November 2017

Through assemblies and lessons this week we have been looking at how different we all are but how we should treat each other with the same mutual respect.

Our British Values teaching ensures that we understand that Individual Liberty means no one has the right to bully others because they choose to be someone different.

We accept others for who they are and who they want to be.

Care and Safety

Children tell us that friendship fall outs often happen because others take away their individual rights. For example;

Friends not letting them choose who they want to play with, or friends dominating what they play with.

Through discussion this week the children have added, 'causing upset by manipulating others and being intimidating,' to the yellow card system as they feel this could lead to bullying.

It is classed as bullying and reported to Derbyshire County Council, if it is
